Mrs. Pavlović Šiniković graduated from the University of Belgrade, Law Faculty, in 1980, having majored in International Law. From 1983 to 2008, she worked for the “Savremena Administracija” publishing company, first as Editor of the Legal Section of the Savremena Praksa Journal, then as Special Editions Editor and, finally, Editor-in-Chief.

In 2008, Mrs. Pavlović Šiniković joined the Ministry of Public Administration and Local Self-Government. She was Head of the Professional Study and Training Unit in the Public Administration Sector until 2010. From 2010 to 2012, she handled legislative affairs and worked on advancing the public administration system. By Government appointed, she served as Secretary of the Ministry of Culture and Information from August 2012 to September 2013.

In 2014, Mrs. Pavlović Šiniković was tasked to coordinate all legislative affairs within the Ministry (at the time called the Ministry of Human and Minority Rights, Public Administration and Local Self-Government). In September that year, she was temporarily appointed Assistant Minister in charge of the Legislative Affairs Sector. Following a competitive recruitment, the appointment was confirmed by a Government Order in December that year.

Mrs. Pavlović Šiniković was directly involved in drafting several bills which the National Assembly passed in 2015 and 2016, the most notable being the Inspection Oversight Act, the General Administrative Procedure Act and the Maximum Number of Public Sector Staff Act. By a Government Order, she has been serving as Acting Assistant Minister of Public Administration and Local Self-Government since 11 March 2016, managing the Human and Minority Rights, Freedoms and Registers Sector.
